HOLDERS Secure Push Poles on Deck

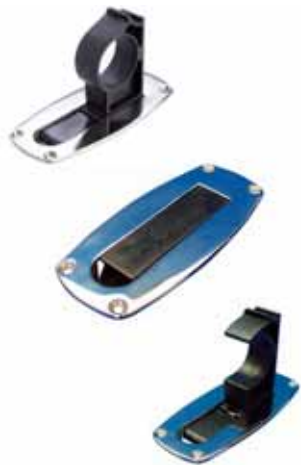

While great to have around for a variety of situations, a push pole, if not stored properly, can be problematic and dangerous when in the way. Accon's 708 Push Pole Holder and 708-R Ring Pole Holder work together to keep a pole safely in place.

These handy holders help prevent the push pole from swiping across the deck if it gets caught in a hazard, such as mangrove branches.

The 708-R Ring Holder mounts on the bow, while another Push Pole Holder is installed mid-ship and a third in the back. They conveniently fold down flush when not in use, ensuring owners don't trip over them.

A riser shim isn't needed with the 708 Series since a pole sits 1-1/16" off the deck. Cast from 316 stainless steel and UV-resistant glass-filled nylon, the durable holders will provide years of service.

Installation is easy and only a 4-13/16" x 1-3/8" hole is required for each unit. The holders attach with four #10 screws. Optional waterproofing cups are also available.

The 708 Push Pole Holder from Accon Marine retails for $56.06 and the 708-R Ring Pole Holder has a retail price of $64.65. To ensure optimal security of the pole, three units, two standard Push Pole Holders and one Ring Pole Holder, are needed.

New Heavy-Duty Water Strainer Simplifies Debris Removal

A raw water strainer is a critical component of any engine or generator cooling system. Designed for easy installation, cleaning and maintenance, the new, heavy-duty 4" Intake Water Strainer is the latest in Perko's Large Boat Strainer Line.

Built for use in the harsh marine environment, the heavy-duty 4" Intake Water Strainer is constructed of cast bronze. Unlike lock washers that can be dropped and lost, aircraft-style mounting nuts remain secured to the body when the cover is removed. A convenient handle makes it simple to rotate and remove the cover, providing quick access to the strainer basket.

Minimizing electrolysis, the advanced Intake Water Strainer features four stainless steel tie rods and a 6-3/4" x 8-5/8" strainer basket. With screen hole diameters of 0.079", it provides 47% open area, which is among the highest in the industry. Measuring overall 17-1/2" H x 16-1/2" W and weighing 122 lbs., the dependable strainer has an area to pipe ratio of 10:1. A drain plug in the bottom casting enables easy sediment removal or draining for winterizing. The transparent cylinder provides a visual check for debris.

New Portable Heater/Stove is the Hot Accessory This Winter

As the temperature outside continues to drop, it's important to stay warm. Perfect for winter activities, such as ice fishing and camping, the lightweight HeatMate 5200 Portable Alcohol Heater from Contoure offers an efficient, safe source of heat that doubles as a stove when the lid is removed.

Whether on a boat, RV or at home, the versatile HeatMate provides extra warmth where needed with 5,200 BTU of heat. When transformed into a cooktop, it has the capability to boil a quart of water in less than nine minutes.

The reliable HeatMate's canister system employs a nonflammable wick material that absorbs approximately 1-1/4 quarts of environmentally-friendly alcohol. Even if it's turned completely upside down, the unique design prevents fuel from leaking. Providing clean heating and cooking, alcohol fuel is easily extinguishable with water.

The pressure-free canister system also eliminates pumping, priming, hoses and valves.

The compact HeatMate measures just 11-3/4" H x 11-1/2" in diameter and weighs only 5 lbs. 3 oz. Constructed of aluminum, it features a convenient carrying strap.

The innovative HeatMate 5200 Portable Alcohol Heater from Contoure International has a suggested retail price of just $169.95.
